

2023 Arc GLOW Awards

Self-Advocate of the Year

To honor a person with a disability served by Arc GLOW who has grown and is meeting their personal outcomes. They also have positively influenced the lives of others.

Robert Greer

KidStart Employee of the Year

To honor an employee who demonstrates exceptional support to children and families, and is committed to assist in all areas of their growth and education.

Holly Green

Supported Employment Person of the Year

To honor a person with a disability supported by Arc GLOW who has demonstrated a strong work ethic, dedication to their job, ability to learn new community employment skills and maintain successful employment.

Michael Cuttitta

Pre-Vocational Person of the Year

To honor a person with a disability supported by Arc GLOW with a dedication to learning about the world of work including new job skills, striving to complete quality work and showing attention to the task of learning.

Larry Anderson

Residential Person of the Year

To honor a person with a disability supported by Arc GLOW who resides in residential services, grew in their independence and learned life skills.

Matthew Willson

Day Habilitation Person of the Year

To honor a person with a disability supported by Arc GLOW who participates in day habilitation activities, strives to learn, and demonstrates effort and commitment to be included in their own communities.

Dusty Sanford

Community Services and Self Direction Person of the Year

To honor a person with a disability served by Arc GLOW who shows outstanding participation and contribution to their community. Shows the initiative in trying new activities and gain leadership potential through community involvement.

Aaries Fitzsimmons

Direct Support Professional Person of the Year

To honor a DSP who provides a variety of activities to adults with developmental disabilities within a home setting, day programs or recreational activities in the community. Provides excellence in support in living skills, personalized goals, arts and crafts, sensory activities, and facilitates our individuals to take their active role in the community.

Amy Beiswenger

Employee of the Year

To recognize an employee of Arc GLOW who is committed to the mission and vision. They demonstrate the values of diversity, respect, integrity, visionary, equality, empowerment and excellence.

Kristie Rada

Friend of Arc GLOW Award

Community friend and supporter of Arc GLOW's mission and vision.

Mary Lou Touhey

Business Partner of the Year

A partner who supports our mission and vision through excellent customer service or providing work opportunities for employment.

Casella Waste Management

Volunteer of the Year

To honor a person who is committed to Arc GLOW, volunteering their time by serving the local community and supporting the Arc GLOWs mission and vision.

Chuck Keenan